(L. S.) G. WILLIAM DES VŒUX.

[3rd March, 1888.]

6. If such Magistrate shall be further of opinion that such vagrant is not likely to obtain employment at once, or if he has reason to believe that a declaration of vagrancy has on any former occasion been recorded in respect of such vagrant, he shall require such vagrant to go to a House of Detention, and shall draw up an order to that effect.

Committal to House of Detention.

7. The vagrant shall then be placed in charge of the Police for the purpose of being forwarded to the House of Detention, and the said order shall be a sufficient authority to the Police for retaining him in their charge while he is on his way to the House of Detention, and to the Superintendent of the House of Detention for receiving and detaining such vagrant.

Such order shall be a sufficient authority to the Police for retaining the vagrant in their charge whilst on his way to such place of employment, and afterwards, should he not succeed in obtaining such employment.

Magistrate may forward to place of employment.

9. The Magistrate dealing with any vagrant shall, to the best of his ability, assist him in seeking employment, and may in the meantime, if he think fit, keep such vagrant in charge of the Police. Estimates and Accounts.

The 11th May, 1888.

No. 2512.—The following Memorandum is published by order of the Governor-General in Council.

REVISED ESTIMATES FOR 1887-88.

In paragraph 16 of the Financial Statement of 26th March 1888, the following abstract (or rather the total column of it) was given of the anticipated results of the year 1887-88; and in paragraph 21 it was mentioned that the information received in the month of April, regarding the transactions of March, would enable the Government to estimate much more closely the actual outturn of the year.

(a) Including Provincial Adjustment.

I propose now to examine the "India" figures (that is, those in the first column) in the light of the information referred to. About the English figures and the exchange upon them, we have as yet no further information, except that the estimated rate of exchange is practically unaltered by the transactions of March.

Land Revenue.—The collections of March have again been extremely high, the improvement over estimate being, on the whole, as much as Rx. 252,000, realised almost entirely in Madras and Bombay.

Opium.—The Bengal realisations were of course accurately known when the estimates were published. As regards Bombay, although the number of chests which passed the scales exceeded the estimate, this was due for the most part to a rush during the last days of the year; and as Rx. 70,000 of the hundis given in payment was not realised till April, and came accordingly into the accounts of the new year, the revenue on the whole falls Rx. 27,000 short of estimate.

Salt.—Notwithstanding the higher rate of duty, the realisations of February and March were each Rx. 50,000 less than the previous year, due no doubt to the absorption of old stocks before the higher taxed new ones came into consumption. Allowance was made for this in the estimates, but the revenue of the year is still Rx. 52,000 short.

Stamps and Excise shew an improvement of Rx. 27,000 and Rx. 21,000, respectively, over estimate.

Assessed Taxes are apparently Rx. 12,000 better than estimate; but this figure excludes any divergence from estimate in respect of deductions from salaries in the Public Works and Military Departments.

Under the other principal heads, the Customs returns shew a little less than estimate. Provincial Rates shew an improvement (corresponding to the improvement under Land Revenue) of nearly Rx. 57,000.

On the whole, these Principal Revenue heads shew improvements of about Rx. 285,000 over the Revised Estimates, of which Rx. 124,000 goes to diminish the deficit of the year, and Rx. 161,000 swells Provincial Balances.

Railways.—The gross earnings are believed to be about Rx. 22,000 better and the working expenses about Rx. 38,000 worse than estimate. This may be divided into Rx. 4,000 worse on Imperial Account and Rx. 12,000 worse on Provincial Account.

Under Interest and Civil Expenditure, we have at present no reason to shew different figures from the estimates. The finals will no doubt shew the expenditure to be within the estimate, but the bulk of the improvement under the latter head goes to swell the Provincial resources, and not to diminish the deficit on Imperial Account. Though the preliminary figures shew a total Rx. 286,000 less than the Revised Estimate, the greater part of this will be required to meet charges which remain yet to be debited by other Departments.

Opium Production.—This expenditure is believed to be Rx. 80,000 less than estimate. An especially large provision was made for payments in March, which were expected to be much more than usual; but the excess has not been so great as anticipated.

Post Office, Telegraph, and Mint.—So far as we see, Post Office will be Rx. 5,000 better and Telegraph Rx. 20,000 worse than estimate.

Irrigation.—The expenditure has been less than estimated, and the head will probably shew an improvement over estimate, which we calculate according to present information, at Rx. 37,000 on Imperial Account and Rx. 30,000 on Provincial Account.

Civil and Military Works, Imperial.—The preliminary accounts shew a saving of Rx. 60,000.

Civil Works, Provincial.—The form of the abstract takes into account under this head the "Provincial Adjustment," i.e., the write-off to Provincial of that part of the improvement in the general account which goes to the Provincial Governments. On the several accounts already stated, we have to write off Rx. 179,000 in addition to the amount shewn in the Revised Estimates. A considerable saving on Provincial and Local Public Works is reported, but it does not alter the gross figure under this head, as the amount, whether spent or unspent, is equally written off the Imperial Account.

Provincial Revenue	161
Railways	-12
Irrigation	30

Army.—The Army expenditure is, according to present returns, about Rx. 25,000 less than the Revised Estimates.

Special Defence Charges.—These are believed to be considerably within the estimate, and the saving may be as much as Rx. 90,000.

The following table accordingly shews the modifications which the preliminary information for March shews to be likely to occur in the Revised Estimates. The figures can still be taken only as estimates; but we are not likely to reach any nearer figures until the process of making up the final accounts has reached a much more advanced stage.—

It will be seen, therefore, that, assuming for the present no change in the English figures, the results of 1887-88 are now put down at Rx. 307,000 better than the Revised Estimate if we exclude consideration of the Special Defence Works; or Rx. 397,000 if we include them. In short, the deficit on the account may now be stated as follows:—

	By Revised Estimate.	As now estimated.
	Rx.	Rx.

NOTIFICATIONS.—EMIGRATION.

Simla, the 24th May, 1888.

No. 77—27-4 E.—With reference to Notification No. 48, dated the 17th April, 1888, the following amendments in the Rules under the Indian Emigration Act, XXI. of 1883, are published under Section 81 (4) of that Act for general information:

1. To Rule 7, Schedule (page 88), after the existing Rule under the heading "Blocks" add the following:

"In front of each block, and at a distance of about 2 feet from it, a substantial wooden frame of stanchions and connecting pieces shall be erected, extending along the entire length of the block, and to about 2 feet beyond it on each side. This frame shall be sufficiently high to support an extension of the closet roof, which shall be projected in future to a distance of about 2 feet, and shall rest on and be securely fastened to the top of the frame.

"A canvas screen, oiled or tarred, and capable of being securely fastened in its place when let down and rolled up when not required, shall be fitted to the front of the above frame, and shall hang from under the projected roof above to about 18 inches of the deck, so as to form, when let down, a sheltered passage to the closets that are behind and entirely covered by it. The exposed forward and after ends or side entrances of this passage shall be excluded from view by wooden side screens—one at each end—firmly fixed at right angles to the frame in front, so as to leave, at each end, a covered entrance to the passage. With a view to better control, the forward end entrances to the women's closets may be closed, or be capable of being closed, when desired."

NOTE.—The relative positions of a block of water-closets, and of the front and side screens common to the block, may be roughly indicated thus:

2. Under the heading "Compartments" and in the Rule below the Table (page 88) omit the paragraph beginning with the words "Every compartment" and ending with the words "for a handle."

PAY AND ACTING ALLOWANCE CODE.

Pages 289—292.

SECTIONS 45 TO 47.

Substitute the following for these Sections:

45. In the case of progressive appointments, acting allowances are fixed as follows:

(a) An officer whose substantive pay is progressive, and who acts in an office of which the pay is fixed.

In this case the officer's acting allowances will be calculated as if his substantive pay were a fixed one, equal to the amount at which from time to time it stands.

(b) An officer whose substantive pay is fixed, and who acts in an office of which the pay is progressive.

In this case the officer's acting allowance will be calculated upon the pay to which he would from time to time have risen if he had held the officiating appointment substantively.

- (c) An officer whose substantive pay is progressive, and who acts in an office of which the pay is progressive.

In this case the officer will draw—

- (1) His substantive pay, with the increments thereof as they fall due.
- (2) The acting allowance which he would have drawn if the substantive and officiating appointments were both on fixed pay equal to the minimum: provided that the maximum limit of salary shall be not the said minimum pay of the officiating appointment, but the pay to which the officer would have risen if his officiating tenure had been substantive.

Example (a).—An officer who is substantively in the R170 stage of an appointment of R150—10—200 is appointed to act in an office of which the pay is R200—8—240. His salary is thus fixed—

			R
Pay	170
Acting allowance, $\frac{1}{5}$ of R200	40
		Total	210

But this is limited the first year to R200.

Next year he gets pay R180 + acting allowance R40,—total R220. But this is limited for a year to R208.

Example (b).—A Covenanted Civil Servant, substantively in the R1,200 stage of an appointment of which the pay is R1,000—50—1,250, acts in an appointment of R1,500—50—1,750. His salary is—

Pay	1,200
Acting allowance, $\frac{2}{3}$ (R1,500—1,000)	333 $\frac{1}{3}$
		Total	1,533 $\frac{1}{3}$

Limited the first year to R1,500.

In future years he receives—

			R
Second year—
Pay	1,250
Acting allowance	333 $\frac{1}{3}$
		Total	1,583 $\frac{1}{3}$

Limited to R1,550.

In future years he gets R1,583 $\frac{1}{3}$, which is the limit of salary in this case.

NOTE.—In calculating the salary of an officer in an acting appointment, the whole of the acting tenure, whether continuous or not, is taken into account.

46. If an officer is appointed substantively to a progressive appointment in which he has already officiated, his pay is fixed as follows:

- (1) If the salary which he drew when last officiating is equal to one of the stages of the pay of the appointment, his pay shall be fixed at that stage, and he shall count in that stage the time during which he has been drawing the said salary.
- (2) If the salary which he drew when last officiating is intermediate between two stages, his pay shall be fixed at that amount for half the period during which an increment is earned, and on the first day of the month thereafter succeeding he shall be eligible to the next higher stage of the progressive pay.

Example.—An officer is on 20th June substantively appointed to an appointment of which the pay is R200—10—250, and in which he is already officiating—

(a) If his salary at the time of his appointment and from 1st March last has been R220, he continues to draw R220, and on 1st March next rises to R230.

(b) If his salary at time of appointment is R225, he will draw R225 till 1st January, and then will get R230.

47. An officer transferred substantively to a progressive appointment from an appointment in which he is drawing pay in excess of the minimum pay of the new appointment will, if the transfer is made by an authority to which both appointments are subordinate, or if the transfer is declared by the Local Government or by a Department of the Government of India to have been made for special reasons and in the interests of the public service, draw the nearest stage, or, if two stages are equally near, then the next higher stage of pay in the new appointment, but will count time for increments as if he had commenced on the minimum pay.

47A. Except as provided in Sections 46 and 47, an officer appointed substantively to an office of which the pay is progressive will begin with the minimum pay.

ARMY (ANNUAL) ACT, 1888.

[51 VICT. CAP. 4.]

An Act to provide, during twelve months, for the Discipline and Regulation of the Army.

[27th April 1888.]

WHEREAS the raising or keeping of a standing army within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland in time of peace, unless it be with the consent of Parliament, is against law:

And whereas it is adjudged necessary by Her Majesty and this present Parliament, that a body of forces should be continued for the safety of the United Kingdom and the defence of the possessions of Her Majesty's Crown, and that the whole number of such forces should consist of one hundred and forty-nine thousand six hundred and sixty-seven men, including those to be employed at the depôts in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the training of recruits for service at home and abroad, but exclusive of the numbers actually serving within Her Majesty's Indian possessions:

And whereas it is also judged necessary for the safety of the United Kingdom, and the defence of the possessions of this realm, that a body of Royal Marine forces should be employed in Her Majesty's fleet and naval service, under the direction of the Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom, or the Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral aforesaid:

And whereas the said marine forces may frequently be quartered or be on shore, or sent to do duty or be on board transport ships or vessels, merchant ships or vessels, or other ships or vessels, or they may be under other circumstances in which they will not be subject to the laws relating to the government of Her Majesty's forces by sea:

And whereas no man can be forejudged of life or limb, or subjected in time of peace to any kind of punishment within this realm by martial law, or in any other manner than by the judgment of his peers and according to the known and established laws of this realm; yet nevertheless it being requisite, for the retaining all the before-mentioned forces, and other persons subject to military law, in their duty, that an exact discipline be observed, and that persons belonging to the said forces who mutiny or stir up sedition, or desert Her Majesty's service, or are guilty of crimes and offences to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, be brought to a more exemplary and speedy punishment than the usual forms of the law will allow:

44 & 45 Vict. c. 58. And whereas the Army Act, 1881, will expire in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight on the following days:—

- (a) In the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, on the thirtieth day of April; and
- (b) Elsewhere in Europe, inclusive of Malta, also in the West Indies and America, on the thirty-first day of July; and
- (c) Elsewhere, whether within or without Her Majesty's dominions, on the thirty-first day of December:

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. This Act may be cited as the Army (Annual) Act, 1888.
Short title.

2. (1) The Army Act, 1881, shall be and remain in force during the periods hereinafter mentioned, and no longer, unless otherwise provided by Parliament; that is to say,

- (a) Within the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, from the thirtieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight to the thirtieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, both inclusive; and
- (b) Elsewhere in Europe, inclusive of Malta, also in the West Indies and America, from the thirty-first day of July one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight to the thirty-first day of July one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, both inclusive; and
- (c) Elsewhere, whether within or without Her Majesty's dominions, from the thirty-first day of December one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight to the thirty-first day of December one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, both inclusive; and the day from which the Army Act, 1881, is continued in any place by this Act is in relation to that place referred to in this Act as the commencement of this Act.

(2) The Army Act, 1881, while in force shall apply to persons subject to military law, whether within or without Her Majesty's dominions.

(3) A person subject to military law shall not be exempted from the provisions of the Army Act, 1881, by reason only that the number of the forces for the time being in the service of Her Majesty, exclusive of the marine forces, is either greater or less than the number herein-before mentioned.

3. There shall be paid to the keeper of a victualling house for the accommodation provided by him in pursuance of the Army Act, 1881, the prices specified in the schedule to this Act.

Amendments of Army Act, 1881.

4. Whereas by the third sub-section of section sixty-three of the Army Act, 1881, it is enacted as follows:—

“A military prisoner while in a public prison shall be confined, kept to hard labour, and otherwise dealt with in the like manner as an ordinary prisoner under a like sentence of imprisonment;”

And whereas doubts have arisen as to whether such a prisoner may be detained in and removed to or from a hospital for the prison when the hospital is detached from the prison, and it is expedient to remove such doubts: Be it therefore enacted as follows:—

There shall be added to section sixty-three of the Army Act, 1881, at the end of the third sub-section, the following enactment:—

And where the hospital or place for the reception of sick prisoners in such prison is detached from the prison may be detained in such hospital or place and conveyed to and from the same as circumstances require.

5. Whereas by section ninety-two of the Army Act, 1881, it is provided that there shall be given to every soldier of the regular forces who is discharged a certificate of discharge stating his service, conduct, and character, and the cause of his discharge;

And whereas it is expedient to provide for the variation of the statements in the certificate of discharge: Be it therefore enacted as follows:—

In sub-section two of section ninety-two of the Army Act, 1881, the words “such particulars as may be from time to time required by regulations of a Secretary of State under this Act” shall be substituted for the words “his service, conduct, and character, and the cause of his discharge.”

6. Sections one hundred and forty-eight, one hundred and forty-nine, and one hundred and fifty of the Army Act, 1881, which relate to Military Courts of Request in India, are hereby repealed, without prejudice to anything done or suffered in pursuance thereof before such repeal takes effect, and any judgment or order made in pursuance of those sections may be carried into execution as if such repeal had not been enacted.

7. Whereas sub-section one of section one hundred and fifty-one of the Army Act, 1881, is as follows:—

“In India all actions of debt and personal actions against persons subject to military law, other than soldiers of the regular forces, within the jurisdiction of any Court of Small Causes, shall be cognizable by such Court to the extent of its powers;”

And whereas doubts have arisen as to whether the words “within the jurisdiction of any Court” refer to persons resident within the jurisdiction, and it is expedient to remove such doubts :

Be it therefore enacted as follows :—

44 & 45 Vict.
c. 58. In sub-section one of section one hundred and fifty-one of the Army Act, 1881, the words "where the persons so subject are resident within the local jurisdiction" shall be substituted for the words "within the jurisdiction".
